Mr. Boreman roved to amend the chapter by striking out the 43d section, which exempts incorporated towns and villages from working roads, and from taxation for that purpose, if they keep their streets and alleys in repair, and authorit their own papers. support their own paupers.

Mr. Wilson offered an amendment to the amendment by striking out that portion of the section which provides that any town or village supporting its own poor shall be exempt from taxation to maintain the poor in the county.

Both amendments were withdrawn, bu. Mr. Wilson subsequently renewed that offered by him, which was adopted. Mr. Boreman made the motion to strike out that portion of the section not included in Mr. Wilson's amendment, and after a lengthy debate the vote was taken, and resulted ayes 10; nays 10. So the motion to strike out was lost. The chapter was then ordered to its

The chapter was then ordered to list third reading.

Chapter 48, of Fires in towns, was read the second time and ordered to its third reading.

On motion of Mr, Wilson the rules were suspended so that chapter 47 might be read the third time to-day. The motion prevailed, Ayes 14; Nays 5, the chapter read, and under anspension of the rules, adopted by a unanimous vote. Chapter 49, of cortain regulations concerning townships, was on motion of Mr. Boreman, laid on the table for the present.

Chapter 78, concerning the preservation of certain useful animals, was recommitted to the Revisory Committee for amendment, because of the vigorous opposition on the part of Mr. Welch to that provision in it forbidding the running of deer with dogs at any time of the year.

The passage of chapter 58 was opposed by Measrs. Parker and Hervey, because of the provision embraced in it permitting married women to convey real lith inst. Jddge Sutherland of the Supreme Court, granted an injunction restraining directors from Issuing more stock or from removing any papers or funds of the company out of the jurisdiction of the Court or for using any of said funds for other than legitimate requirements of the company. This injunction was granted on the compaint of August Belmont and E. B. Lucke, and was supported by the afficient of Daniel Drew. An order was also issued by the seme Justice to show cause on or Defore the 23d inst. why a receiver should not be appointed on the same date. Mr. Charless McIntosh representing himself the owner of 2,000 nting himself the owner of 2,00 presenting himself the owner of 2,000 shares of stock, made complaint before Judge Barnard supported by the affidavit of James Fisk, charging among other things hostile to the interest of the Eris company, that certain persons, including complainants in the suit before Judge Sutherland, were engaged in depressing the market price of the stock; and that they threatened to commence litigation and to make application to the Couris for the sppointment of a receiver. On this complaint the Judge ordered that the persons named in the complaint of McIntosh and the affidavit of Fiek should refrain from the commencement of a suit against the Erie directors, or from obtaining orders on exparte application from Courts; also that they shall not apply for a receiver. In addition he appointed Jay Gould receiver of the company, on his filling a bond of two millions of dollars. The injunctions appear to be in direct conflict with each other. General Stoneman recommends the repeal of the 9th section of the act of Congress of July 19th, 1857. While seeking for some remedy for the evils which it was feared, with reason, might enaue, the question of non action substantially settled itself, and possibly this result was promoted by his opportune absence from the State, immediately subsequent to the adjournment of Congress, and things moved on as because of the discontinual transfer of the substantial transfer. ately subsequent to the adjournment of Congress, and things moved on as before, mader the provisions and requirements of the reconstruction law, then and now in till operation. Among the more important questions that have presented themselves is the Methodist Church contest: After a careful investigation, and an able opinion thereon by Judge Advocate Col. B. H. Burnham, it has been deemed advisable not as yet to make any order thereon. The investigation shows that it embraces many delicate questions of iaw, both statute and ecclesiastical, and is one, Gen. Slocum says, that can only be settled by the decision of the highest civil tribunal, or by legislative enaument. The ispecial cases as they have arison, have been settled on the principle of recognizing the claims of both contestants, and giving each the right of occupying on alternate weeks. Arrangements have been made with most of the railroad campanies advantages to them as well as to the State, by which it is hoped they will be able to pay in ressonable dues to the treasury. This arrangement contemplates that one-third be paid in currency and pay in reasonable dues to the treasury. This arrangement contemplates that one-third be paid in currency and the balance in State bonds.
